Is there a path from start to finish?

You are given a graph where two nodes are labeled “start” and “finish.” The problem is to determine whether there is a path between these two nodes. But the graph is layered, and you can only see one layer at a time!